

ABSTRACT

Presented is a retractable substantially full passenger cab height cover for vehicle aft portions that renders the vehicle's aft portion open to transport cargo when the full cab height cover is retracted and covered at a full, or nearly so, passenger cab height when the full cab height cover is extended. It has application to all manner of vehicles such as pickup trucks or sport utility vehicles (SUV's) and may be designed in and sold as original factory equipment or sold as an aftermarket product. It is possible, by use of a fold down gate disposed between the passenger cab and the aft portion of the vehicle to have a very lengthy distance, from a tailgate at the aft of the vehicle to just behind the driver's seat, for extra passenger seating, storage of cargo, carrying of small boats, or the like.